November 2013 NEWSLETTER

A RAFFLE FOR 2 WARBIRDS DONATED BY EMMA HOLMGREN IN JACK HOLMGREN'S NAME.

NOMINATIONS FOR 2014 CLUB OFFICERS

TIP OF THE MONTH

Sealing Balsa and filing large Cracks with Body Putty

Use a mixture of baby powder, Elmer's glue, & water. To seal the pores of balsa wood, make the mixture watery & apply with a paint brush, for cracks & especially wing roots, mix it thick, apply with your fingers then smooth out to the shape you want with a wet finger. This mixture sands very easily, but if you use too much Elmer's glue it will be harder to sand, so experiment with the mixture.

One caution with this body putty, the balsa must be sealed first with 2 coats of clear dope, otherwise the water will warp the balsa and it may not return to the original shape when dry, so dope it first.

This stuff is cheap, large package of baby powder at the dollar store, and Elmer's glue is under a buck, so for 2 dollars you can make lots of body putty.
